

Community Alliance for Global Justice +
AGRA Watch* present:

The Global Struggle for Food Sovereignty: A Discussion with African Food Leaders + Farmers

Million Belay

Alliance for Food Sovereignty in Africa and MELCA, Ethiopia

Mariam Mayet

African Centre for Biosafety, South Africa

Elizabeth Mpofo

ZIMSOFF, La Via Campesina Africa, Zimbabwe

*AGRA Watch is a grassroots, Seattle-based program of Community Alliance for Global Justice, challenging the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundations' questionable agricultural programs in Africa, including its Alliance for a Green Revolution in Africa (AGRA).

SUN. OCT. 12th
TOWN HALL SEATTLE

5pm reception.....$15-20
www.brownpapertickets.com

7pm panel.....$5 suggested donation at door

info.....www.seattleglobaljustice.org
206.406.4500

Co-Sponsors

African Centre for Biosafety (South Africa), Food First, Grassroots International, IDEX-International Development Exchange, Kenya Food Rights Alliance, National Family Farm Coalition, Pesticide Action Network North America – PANNA, We are the Solution (Burkina Faso), WhyHunger

African farmers and activists...

are fighting for food sovereignty, the right of all people to control their food systems. Yet today, Africans are confronting corporate “philanthropy” that is trying to transform smallholder African agriculture into American-style, industrial agribusiness.

African food sovereignty leaders...

are in Seattle to build solidarity with U.S. food sovereignty activists and share their struggle!

You...

are invited to meet these African and U.S. leaders in a pre-event reception, followed by a panel where African leaders will talk about their struggle for food sovereignty.